Modern handguard grips have come a long way. They enhance the shooters skills through better recoil management and ease of indexing repeatability for speed. But one grip style may not be suited for everybody, and sometimes rail space is limited so just a hand-stop can fit. But what if you didn't have to settle for just one grip style? Introducing the Strike Industries Hand Stop Kit. Gone are the days of having to keep extra handstops, foregrips, and other grip accessories laying around. Including 3 sections that can work together or as standalone attachments, there are over half a dozen ways to configure the Link hand-stop kit for different shooting styles. The three sections are made from durable, reinforced, & heat-resistant polymer. Each section uses a single modified T-nut that has been tried and tested for superior lock-up. The HSK is directly mounted to either M-Lok slots or Keymod holes without the need for adapters in between, resulting in a highly ergonomic and secure lock-up. Don't compromise—overcome, with the Link Handstop Kit.
