Build a Precision Rimfire Rifle

Love the Ruger 10/22 platform but wish you could have something that was tailored to provide tack-driving accuracy? The Volquartsen Summit Receiver and Bolt allows rimfire fans to build their own straight-pull, bolt-action rifle that's compatible with most Ruger aftermarket add-ons and enhancements. The bolt and receiver included with the Volquartsen Summit Receiver and Bolt kit are machined from aluminum alloy and finished with a hard-coat anodized finish. The receiver is machined with an integral Picatinny optics rail with 20 MOA of built-in elevation to compensate for longer shots. Chambered in .22 LR All-black finish Weight: 1 pound, 4 ounces Each Volquartsen Summit Receiver and Bolt are compatible with all Ruger 10/22 stocks, triggers and barrels, allowing shooters to choose their perfect combination for precision-rimfire shooting.
